● POWER PLAY

All households to get power connection by Dec: Govt

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, May 1

AS ELECTRICITY REACHED all inhabited villages in the country on April 28, the government now wants to provide connections to every household by December 31, 2018, three months ahead of an earlier deadline set under the Saubhagya scheme.

The government estimates that this itself would raise power demand by about 28,000 MW or 18%, but would have a 'multiplier effect' on the demand as the electricity connections would trigger ancillary industries in rural areas.

Any potential avenue for demand growth should bring some cheer to power plants operators as nearly 20,000 MW of coal-based power plants do not have any power purchase agreements to sell electricity. Another 20,000 MW of such plants are under various stages of construction.

Though showing some positive signs in the recent past, tepid demand growth over the past few years have been a dampener for the power generation industry. Plant load factor (PLF) for private power plants have slipped further to 55.1% in FY18 from 55.9% in FY17. PLFs of less than 60% make it difficult to service debts. Stressed assets in the power sector consist of 34 private power plants with an outstanding debt of ₹1.74 lakh crore.

"On a ballpark basis, an average load of 1 KW per household for eight hours in a day, there will be requirement of additional energy of about 80,000 million units (MU) per annum," an official said on condition of anonymity.

"Demand growth would also depend a lot on how electrical and consumer-durables industry price their products to tap the new rural growth avenue," another official said. At 1,075 units, the average per-capita electricity consumption rate is one of the lowest in the world, even lower than the India's emerging economy counterparts.

The government has put more focus on rural electrification which can be reflected from the ₹24,890 crore Central fund released in this regard between FY15-18, compared with ₹10,874 crore between FY11-14. More than 3.1 crore rural households currently remain unconnected. More than 50 lakh households have been connected under the Saubhagya scheme since its launch in September, 2017.

The government wants to connect more than 13 lakh un electrified households under the 'Gram Swaraj Abhiyan', which targets complete implementation of seven Central government schemes (including Saubhagya) across 20,000 villages in 22 days, ending May 5. As on April 30, 77% of this target was met.

Power minister RK Singh told reporters here on Tuesday that the government is also planning to pre-pon the deadline for '24X7 power supply' by three months to December 31, 2018 as well.

Mumbai, May 1

PAYMENTS VOLUMES ON the Unified Payments Interface (UPI) seem to have hit a plateau in the past few months after new payment providers made a beeline to join the platform.

Data released by the National Payments Corporation of India on Tuesday showed that the number of UPI transactions reported less than 7% growth month-on-month (m-o-m) to 190.08 million in April. Volumes in March grew 4% over February, while the growth in February was 13% over January.

The aggregate value of transactions in April rose 12% over March to ₹27,021.85 crore.

This is in contrast to the 35-150% m-o-m growth UPI volumes had been witnessing in the latter half of 2017, when Google India introduced its Tez app for UPI, followed by home-grown fintech player Paytm joining the UPI ecosystem.

NPCI is yet to release data on the share of transactions made using its Bharat Interface for Money (Bhim) app in the total UPI data. In March, the volume of transactions made using Bhim had risen 21% m-o-m to 11.95 million, while their value had increased 20.6% to Rs 4,839.65 crore.

During March, Bhim had also clawed back some of the ground lost to other UPI apps in previous months. Its share in the overall UPI app rose a full 100 basis points (bps) between February and March to 6.7%.

December 2017 had seen Bhim's share shrink to 6% from 8% in November, as payments player Paytm introduced the payment mode on its platform. During the three months to November, Bhim's contribution to UPI volumes slipped to 8% from 45% as Google India entered the UPI fray with its Tez app, loaded with cashbacks and other freebies.

April 2018 could turn out to be an important month for Bhim as it saw cashbacks being packed into the app for users. It is also not clear which app

Data released by the National Payments Corporation of India showed that the number of UPI transactions reported less than 7% growth month-on-month (m-o-m) to 190.08 million in April. Volumes in March grew 4% over February, while the growth in February was 13% over January. The aggregate value of transactions in April rose 12% over March to ₹27,021.85 crore accounts for the largest share of UPI transactions, as NPCI does not release this data. In March, Paytm said it accounted for 40% of all UPI transactions in February and claimed to have upstaged Google Tez as the platform seeing the highest number of UPI transactions. On February 27, Google India had said Tez has recorded 250 million transactions since its launch in the middle of September 2017.

Medical devices: India turns down US request on price caps

REUTERS
New Delhi, May 1

INDIA HAS TOLD the United States it won't abstain from capping prices for more medical devices, regardless of pressure to rethink its stance after price controls on heart stents and knee implants spoilt the market for some U.S. firms, sources familiar with the matter said.

India's drug pricing authority is also pushing to bring three more devices used while treating heart ailments under the ambit of price controls as they are sometimes more expensive than the stent itself, showed a government letter reviewed by Reuters.

India's $5 billion medical device market has provided rich fishing grounds for U.S.-based companies like Abbott Laboratories and Boston Scientific Corp, but the prospect of price caps being extended to more products sent shivers through their ranks.

In September, the United States Trade Representative (USTR) wrote to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's office and Trade Minister Suresh Prabhu urging them "to not expand price controls to additional medical devices," according to a copy of the letter seen by Reuters.

During a meeting last month, Indian officials told USTR Assistant Trade Representative Mark Linscott that India had decided against making any such commitment, a trade ministry official told Reuters on Tuesday.

"This position will not change, it is within the right of the government of India (to impose price caps)," said the official, who declined to be named.

Linscott "expressed concerns" with India's stance during the meeting, another Indian trade official said.

A USTR spokesperson declined to comment for this article, and Modi's office did not respond to Reuters' queries.

Price controls form part of Modi's broader agenda to improve India's dilapidated public health system and boost affordability of treatment.

Equating high trade margins on some medical devices with "illegal profiteering", the government last year capped prices of some high-end heart stents - small wire-mesh structures used to treat blocked arteries - at around $450, compared to $3,000 charged earlier. During a visit to Britain last month, Modi himself extolled the price caps' success in making treatment much more affordable for Indians.

And India's National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA) has been pushing for more price controls.
